WILSON "REPORTS" ON TREATY

SAILORS KEPT AWAY THROUGH MUSSED PLANS

Bad Faith by San Francisco in Way of Counter Attractions Charged by Members of Committees in Charge

Paid Secretaries Fail to Show Results of Their Labor or the Funds Expended; Deficit Faced by Promoters

Failure to take proper action by the committee appointed to direct the affairs of the reception given by East Bay cities to the men of the Pacific Fleet; San Francisco's counter attractions; misunderstanding on the part of the sailors, due to failure of the committee to give proper publicity to the manner of reception planned and numerous minor causes are seriously advanced in explanation of the dearth of sailors in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda yesterday.

From San Francisco comes denial that there was any attempt on the part of the reception committee of that city to produce counter attractions other than the natural attractions to be found there.

From some of the sailors comes assertion that the exacting free transportation had been arranged, they were surprised when confronted by the necessity of paying their way across the bay, and without further ado they spent their shore leave in San Francisco.

Berkeley says that Boy Scouts were sent across the bay with tickets, and the Oakland committee asserts that girls were sent across the bay with round-trip tickets. Some 200 of which were given away. Plans were made to transport at least 5,000, but from quarters other than members of the committee it is asserted that if the transportation had been arranged for the greater number of the sailors who quitted their war-craft homes for the day were unaware of the fact.

RECEPTION TO DANIELS GOES OFF SMOOTHLY.

Alameda acknowledges that its committee made no attempt to furnish transportation for the sailors.

In this symposium of explanation there is no reference intended to the reception extended to Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Admiral Hugh Rodman, Governor Stephens and others who were in the distinguished party. The details of this feature of the day were directed by a different committee and everything ran like machinery and there was never a hitch.

The story of Oakland's various participants and the committee having the reception in charge amounts to this:

"San Francisco's counter-attractions are responsible for the failure of Oakland to have entertained more sailors yesterday."

This is the story of Frank Darrow, executive secretary of the fleet welcome committee, in explaining the small attendance of sailors at yesterday's celebration in Oakland. Despite the fact that free transportation was given the men, round trip tickets on the Key Route having been distributed under the direction of George E. Sheldon, only between 2,000 and 3,000 men visited the East Bay cities while San Francisco's saloons, running, it is charged, "wide open," were crowded.

"Furthermore," says Darrow, "despite the promise of San Francisco that nothing would be staged there to conflict with our day, there were three dances for the sailors that I know of."

DEFICIT FACED BY FLEET WELCOME COMMITTEE.

The fleet welcome committee evidently faced a financial deficit when it met today. President W. Higgins, secretary of the finance committee, estimates that $18,000 was raised for the celebration. Of this $5,000 came from the city, by council appropriation; $3,000 from the county, while the rest was raised by private subscriptions and sale of tickets. The losses are not all in yet. It has been said that the present time he refuses to make an accounting of the expenditures.

"My business was to get the money and as to what was done with it, that's nobody's business. I will make my report to Mr. Capwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, after all accounts are settled up. From indications we will run short. The banks have not contributed a cent yet, and the merchants contributed very little compared with what they should have."

The details of the fleet welcome were handled through an organization of paid secretaries, and about fifteen paid solicitors were sent out for funds, the secretaries working under the heads of various committees.

L. E. Thorsen was secretary under Higgins, handling the details of the Finance Committee; T. A. Goldstein and Jack Cook, secretaries for the Parade Committee; under Colonel R. J. Faneuil; A. Knapp, public-relations secretary; Frank Darrow, executive secretary, and H. C. Smith headed the secretaries.

Smith was former market inspector, or recently ousted by Commissioner L. Morse. The other men are employed, handling the secretaries' shins "on the side." Darrow made a trip to Los Angeles to meet the fleet, delivering circulars describing Oakland Day to Captain Chauncy Shaddock, who promised to deliver them to the sailors, and spending a

Rodman's Talk Stirs Banqueters Daniels Tells of U-Boat Traps Speakers Boost Alameda Base

Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman of the Pacific Fleet shared alike as recipients of the interest of five hundred banqueters last evening at the Hotel Oakland. Secretary Daniels gave some intimate inside views of the American naval history of the war. Admiral Rodman, belying every previous protestation that he was not a speaker, gave as long odds the most extended address he had ever made in the course of his fleet that kept them at rapt attention. He won special appreciation when he unequivocally declared that he favored a good naval base on San Francisco Bay.

Though Secretary Daniels' interesting address was followed mainly by those of the first of these representatives, the talk of the day, recently come from the Atlantic, had been an example of the unity to which the United States, a victor nation, had quickly attained.

"The Pacific Fleet," said Dr. Reinhardt, "is a symbol of our national strength."

Other telling sentences in her address were these:

"The merchant marine is our strength of today and our promise for tomorrow."

"There are unlimited facilities on the Pacific coast for making ships, unlimited materials for their construction and unlimited man-power to build them."

"The great American navy is at last going to make us understood by other countries."

Secretary Daniels, beginning his address, caught a sentence from Knowland's address as his theme. He said:

NAVY PREPARATION SECRET OF SUCCESS.

"Unless the navy had been busy in the years before the war it would not have been ready for the war in the same manner. Speaking now not for myself but for the gallant officers and men, I think there has been in all the world's history no greater fitness for service than our American navy exhibited during the war."

"When this country entered the conflict the problem to us was how to defeat the submarine."

"The submarine would be used we knew before the war started, and we knew that it was a fit and proper weapon for warfare. But the hope the day may come when the submarine will pass into innocuous desuetude. So long as another nation would allow an American army airplane severely wounding its pilot, Captain David W. McNabb, will be punished by Mexican authorities. It was announced today by General Reynaldo Garcia, commander of the Carranza garrison at Nuevo Laredo, across the border."

General Garcia has made a complete report on the incident.

Carranza's soldiers were fully aware of what had happened than we could possibly know on this side of the water. The many solemn covenants which Germany had disregarded, the long preparation she had made to overwhelm her neighbors, the utter disregard which she had shown for human rights, for the rights of women and children and those who were helpless.

Meantime, the Republicans are keeping an interested eye on the administration's efforts to lower the cost of living.

The President's return and calls the "international" conference of capital cities, October 3, more than thirty of the ninety days' truce the railway workers are expected to observe will have expired.

President Wilson's wound is healing but he will be off duty for some time.

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 4.—Investigation seeking to verify the story of the killing of Mrs. E. A. Martensen, an American woman, and the assault on her ten-year-old daughter by Mexican bandits was being made today. The facts are to be told before the senatorial committee investigating conditions in Mexico.

The story of the outrage was brought to the border by J. N. Quall, field secretary for the national association for the protection of American rights.

Mrs. Martensen, forced out of Mexico by her condition, sought work in El Paso, Texas, some months ago. She sent his wife $40 in gold. Mexican bandits who saw her receive the gold at Guadalupe in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, followed her to her home. When she refused to let them into the house, they shot through the door, one of the bullets hitting Mrs. Martensen. The bandits broke in and compelled the wounded woman to tell where she had placed the money. After that they demanded that she make them coffee, and when she was unable to rise from the floor to go to the kitchen they fired three more bullets into her body. Then seizing the child, according to Quall's story, they cut off her head, and when her son heard her, a party of passing Mormons to her rescue, the bandits opened fire and killed the rescuers.

The United States army and navy throughout the war worked together like two arms of the body.

They can speak for the success of the war, and the winning of the war.

"With the forefulness always characteristic of him," Knowland continued, "the President bantled his fist down hard upon his office desk and cried: 'Well, that fleet is going around! And around it came. And now has come its successor.'

Both cruiser, he declared, have emphasized the fact that facilitated the Pacific Coast for maintaining a strong fleet permanently and woefully inadequate. How to meet this problem was a vital question. The appointment laborers and accomplishments of the Helm commission, which selected the site at Alameda. He spoke of the opposition which developed in the East to this project and of his talk with this objection.

TWO TIED FOR FIRST HONORS IN STATE GOLF TOURNEY

CALIFORNIA AND STANFORD WILL MEET ON THE GRIDIRON AT PALO ALTO NOVEMBER 22

Dr. Walter Figures Well At Del Monte

O'Keefe of San Jose Surprise With a Low Score of 74.

DEL MONTE, Sept. 4.—The army of golfers at Del Monte for the California championship meeting and the followers of the social and ancient pastime all over the state are focusing their attention today on Scotty Armstrong, the hope of the south.

The first half of the qualifying round was reckoned off Saturday and Sunday, and concluded in a tie. Armstrong became a proud daddy just three days ago and he obtained the permission of the tournament committee to delay his arrival until he could qualify the full thirty-six holes in one day.

So Scotty did not play the first day and is reckoned to have had a good chance of parading in first for medal laurels.

The hero and surprise for the first day of the championship was that of Edward J. O'Keefe, a San Jose boy. Frank O'Keefe, although a successful campaigner through many bottights on the links, was completely overwhelmed when he came in at 74. Grant there was a loud murmur of surprise.

Dr. Charles H. Walter of Sequoyah made good for his big following with a 75. He is right up there with a 75, and stands behind the leaders Jack Neville of Claremont and Sam Conlan the Lincoln Park champion, came next with 76. Charles E. Mand, first wolf tournament head at Del Monte twenty-four years ago, did himself proud with a 77. Right along with him were R. S. Syer of San Jose, Max M. Watson of Los Angeles, Charlie Mand has something to crow about when he can head so many youngsters.

A whole flock of golfers are bunched between 75 and 80. It is figured that it will take at least a 150 to qualify for the championship flight. Cell Putnam, C. P. Foley, Fred Spangler, V. F. Frazee, and J. A. Young are Oakland men given a chance to get in.

It is estimated that the total number entered for the tournament will 150, with all tee off in the second half of the qualifying round. This is a record for a championship event in California.

George Grant has been ruling a strong favorite with Jack Neville and Scotty Armstrong in a hot tussle for second choice. W. W. Campbell, Bob Gammie, and Fred L. Peters of San Jose, and the Lincoln Park lads all have their supporters.

Interest was displayed in the play of Dr. W. R. Peters of San Jose, Chile who turned in a 92.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Seals tightened their hold in the division by handing Vernon a 5 to 1 defeat while the Portland club was defeating Sacramento, 9 to 1.

The game between the Seals and Vernon was a pitching battle between Scott and Dell, the latter weakening in the ninth inning, letting the Seals score two runs.

The Tigers got five hits on Scott, while Dell was touched for nine, Schick, Hunter and McKee getting ten each of them getting an extra base hit.

The Tigers played errorless ball but lost the game. McGinnis had only one error which means that the fans of the southern city witnessed a good game of ball.

Roy Corhan at short for the Seals was a fielding star, caring for nine chances.

The Portland batters fatten their hitting averages getting fourteen hits off of Larkin and Klein who did the hurling for Sacramento. Klein lasted a little more than two innings and was responsible for eight runs.

Penner worked for the Beavers and has no worry with his teammates, scoring four in the first and four more in the third.

Ted Dahl Westerell and Royal Blue, only one extra base hit was made in the game, that went to Blue.

Rich Griggs got three of the eight hits that were made off Penner.

Charlie Mullin who since he became manager of the Seattle club, has not come around and a bridge, pits his team against Oakland in a double-header today.

Shastas Handed Another Beating

Four wins out of five games in their series with the Shasta Limiteds.

They put their fourth win over on Labor Day, to clinch the score 2 to 1.

The last game of the series was a loss, but loose playing and six walks issued by Meadows proved costly. The Bears made six runs in the ninth inning on one hit, Barlow, but the last two were scattered. The hitting by Billy Woods of the Shastas was a feature, getting a triple, double and two singles in five times at bat. The score:

Lack of Team Work Mars Fiesta Double Dealing Is Denied by S. F.

week in the southern city. He also dropped advertising matter from an airplane, contracted for the purchase of several dozen placards which naval officers took to Monterey and promised to have posted on the various warships.

Oakland had no parade, the "parade committee" being arranged to induce Oakland service men to participate in the San Francisco parade. Oakland was represented by thirty-two secretaries, a $550 issuance of letters to former service men and publicity for the matter. The parade committee had the cooperation of the American Legion, but failed to induce former soldiers to "turn out." The cost to the committee of those men who took part in the parade, including its total expense was $6 per man.

Smith and his solicitors worked until late last night, sold "hot dogs" and other things at the lake and added $75 to the fund. The fifteen meetings were held by the day, according to Higgins, being chosen by the city hall and police around the city hall and police stations.

The bill for the arbor at Fourteenth and Broadway has not been paid, the finance committee holding that the contracting firm erecting it was seeking to "profiteer," charging more than a thousand dollars, while the committee holds, the cost of the arbor to the city was not worth the trouble.

Gorgeous with color, the brilliancy of toy balloons and brightness of flags and pennants, the Municipal Auditorium gave a spectacular setting while it awaited the entrance of the dancers.

The city's fairest girls, 3000 of whom received the summons to come and welcome the nation's heroes. It was a naval ball. But men of the land, remembering the joy of former functions, brought forth the uniform of other days and no service man was denied the privilege of guest. The women who have given so much to the defense of their country, with little parties of friends, paraded the boxes which, with their color note, gave a dainty rim to the moving spectacle.

Galaxies were thronged with spectators long before the strains of the first waltz had died away. As a matinée of a hostess' city, the public, which made the ball possible, a big entertainment and did so economically, was content to sit and look, youth and gallantry and grace tolling the chimes and filling the hall over. There was free transportation and everything of a reasonable nature to induce the men to come.

I fail to see where any criticism can be placed at the door or the committee. We gave a great show and the people here can testify to it. The merchants did a big business in the program. I don't know if cutters and things, the various committees did. I only know that I was told to get the money and I did, and I will make an accounting only to Mr. Capwell, and that when all the bills are in. We may come out even yet, I don't know.

Among the large bills the committee will have to pay off is $300 for the ball at the Auditorium, and there $100 for labor and material for the archway, which has been protested, the salaries of the various paid secretaries, stenographers, and solicitor, printing, postage and bills for Darrow's trip south, for his airplane trip and other "stunts" of that nature.

"Something happened in San Francisco and San Francisco slipped a package to Oakland," said Darrow. "I don't know whether any money was passed, but there was a propaganda at work against Oakland among the boys, and the open rooms there, and the women they'd met there turned the trick."

Up at the Greek theater in Berkeley today there are cakes and cakes, gallons of coffee, dozen of sandwiches, numerous other sundries sufficient to feed small armies.

In Berkley proper there is indignation. Someone is being sought upon whom to place the blame for the fact that Berkley's invitation to the fleet was almost completely ignored. For ignored it was. Even the most optimistic members of the big committee in charge of the event admit that fact today.

Practically $100 was collected in Berkeley for the entertainment of the 2000 gals expected to be guests of the college city. Hundreds of choice cakes were donated by college city housewives. A publicist expert said the park will be placed on the market and sold at once.

Packers Fail to Save Seized Pork

CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Justice William R. Day of the United States Supreme Court here today denied a writ asking for a stay of execution in the case of the state of Ohio against the Columbus Packing Company, in which 75 tons of pork said to have been held in violation of the law was seized by the prosecuting attorney of Franklin county. It was said the pork will be placed on the market and sold at once.

WILSON SAYS WORLD PEACE DEMANDS PACT

who could not enforce their rights. There never was congress of nations before that did not seek to effect some balance of power brought about by means of serving the strength and interest of the strongest powers concerned, whereas this treaty builds up nations that never could have won their freedom in any way. It builds them up by gift, by largeness not obligation, builds them up because of the conviction of the men who wrote the treaty that the rights of people transcend the rights of governments, because of the conviction of the men who wrote the treaty that the fertile source of war is wrong; that the Austro-Hungarian empire, for example, would together by military force and consisted of peoples who did not want to live together; who did not have the spirit of nationality as towards each other; who were constantly chafing at the bands that held them.

Hungary, though a willing partner of Austria, was willing to be her partner because she could share Austria's strength for accomplishing her own ambitions, and her own ambitions were to hold under the Hug-Slavic system. She had the part of Bohemia, an unhappy partner, a partner by duress flowing in all her veins the strongest national impulse that was to be found anywhere in Europe, and north of this pitiful Poland, the great nation divided up among the great powers of Europe; torn asunder—kinship disregarded, natural ties treated with contempt and an obligatory division among sovereigns imposed upon her, a part of her given to Russia, a part of her given to Austria, and a part of her given to Germany, and great bodies of Polish people never permitted to give expression in course with their kinships for fear that that fine instinct of heart should assert itself, which binds families together. Poland could never have won her independence. Bohemia never could have broken away from the Austro-Hungarian combination.

SLAVIC NATION IS OFTEN CRUSHED.

The Slavic peoples to the south running down into the Balkan peninsula, had again and again tried to assert their nationality, and independence had often been crushed, not by the immediate power they were fighting but by the combined power of Europe.

They were fighting, but by the combined power of Europe. The old alliances of old schools of power, meant to use it to that no little nation asserted its right to the disturbance of the peace of Europe, and every time an assertion of rights was attempted they were suppressed by combined influence and force, and this says that the people have a right to live their own lives under the governments which they themselves choose to set up. It is the American people, I was glad to find, who were the first to fight for what was right, and eight consideration was urged I used—not alone—but it was a matter of common counsel—that strategic considerations were not in our thought, that we are not now arranging for future wars, but were giving people what belonged to them.

My fellow citizens, do you think there is any man alive who has a more tender sympathy for the people of Italy than I have? And again and again stern duty was presented to us when we had to consider some of the claims of Italy on the Adriatic because strategically from the point of view of future wars Italy needed a military foothold on the other side of the Adriatic, but her people did not live there except in little spots. It was a slave people, and I had to say to my Italian friends that every effort in this treat we have given territory to the people who lived on it, and I do not think that it is for the advantage of Italy, and I am sure it is not for the advantage of the world to give Italy territory where other people live.

I felt the force of the argument for what they wanted and it was the old argument that had always prevailed, namely, that they had been pre-empted from a military point of view, and I have no doubt that if there is no League of Nations, then it will be a military point of view, but if there is a League of Nations they will not need to be pre-empted from a military point of view. If there is a League of Nations the military point of view will prevail in every instance, and peace will be brought into contempt, but if there is a League of Nations Italy need not fear the fact that the shores on the other side of the Adriatic tower above her lower sandy shores on her sides of the sea because there will be no neutrals among them, and the situation of the world will have considered not merely to see that the Slavic people have their rights, but the Italian people have their rights as well. I would rather have everybody on my side than be armed to the teeth, and every settlement that is right, every settlement that is based upon principles I have alluded to is a safe settlement because the sympathy of mankind will be behind it.

Some gentlemen have feared with regard to the League of Nations that we will be obliged to do

Boy's Love Story Touches Judge Escapes Prison; May Win Girl

For love of a pretty Piedmont maid, from one of the most prominent families in the East Bay, Ralph P. Tracy committed the crime of adoring himself in the uniform of an overseas officer for Uncle Sam, with such ardor that he was able to show how that he helped to smash the Hindenburg Hill.

The girl, only 17, went into Federal Judge Dooling's court in San Francisco today to corroborate the story of her 19-year-old admirer, who was arrested August 23 by federal officers. Attorneys in the courtroom recognized her.

She declared that Tracy had not attempted to practice the deception on her, but had donned the respect-wakening raiment for the benefit of the parents, to win their consent to a match which otherwise they were certain would be opposed.

DENIES HE'S A SLACKER.

Judge Dooling had the power to send Tracy to prison for two years, and to fine him $1000 on top of that. The lovers knew it. Their voices were humble but they could not conceal a ringing note of defiance.

"All is fair in love and war," they had heard many times. And this was a combination of both.

Tracy denied that he was a slack'er. He entered his reserve officers' training camp, he showed, but was pronounced.

VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS TODAY

SATTERWHITE GETS R. R. BOARD JOB

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Election of national officers will be held today by the United Spanish War Veterans, now holding their twenty-first encampment here. Nominations were made yesterday and, with the exception of commander-in-chief, all offices had but one nomination. The leadership of the veterans will develop into a ballot contest between Milton Nathan of this city, William Jones, incumbent, New York, and Thomas Boutwell, Colorado.

Warm debate featured yesterday's session, and several important resolutions were adopted. The policy of the United States toward Mexico brought forth much oratory, the adoption of action at last winning unanimous vote. The resolution was adopted and referred to a board to Congress and President Wilson, asking that American lives be safeguarded in the southern republic.

Today's vote will elect not only the 1920 officers but also will pick the city in which next year's encampment will be held. St. Louis and Washington, D. C., have been mentioned as convention places.

The veterans also officially urged Congress to enact laws whereby undesirable immigrants might be kept away from our shores. In the addresses previous to its adoption, speakers deplored the leaning toward Bolshevism and disloyalty by many foreign-born residents here.

McKinley's birthday, January 29, as a national holiday was also adopted, and Congress will be asked to legalise it.

Money appropriations for disabled Spanish war veterans so that they might obtain some benefit from the rehabilitation process now enjoyed by veterans of the present war.

There is in fact an affirmative vote by delegates. The resolution calling for the amalgamation of the Spanish War veterans with similar organizations resulting from other conflicts was tabled.

While the men were meeting, the Women's Auxiliary of the organization held their encampment also. The League of Nations as it stands was not given the convention's approval.

Delegates learned with interest that the American Legion, world war fighters now out of service, would hold its first state convention here October 8, 9, 10.

California Oil May 'Finance' Padlewski

President Padlewski, of Poland, may have sufficient private funds to finance his country if the operations on his 20,000-acre ranch at Santa Maria, Santa Barbara county, are successful. The land is being drilled for oil by the Petroleum Midway Company.

The planter purchased the land for the purpose of establishing there a Polish colony. The war ended his dreams.

Polish colony. The war ended his dreams.

In this respect and now a company has been formed to prospect the land for petroleum.

Roofer is Held on Bad Check Charge

L. O. Goodmanson, a roofer of Oakland, is held in the city prison today on the charge of Tim Dorgan, local saloonman, that he obtained $75 on a bogus check.

Police Inspectors McSorley and Rossell arrested Goodmanson this morning. The check was passed yesterday at the Dorgan saloon.

SUES TRACTION COMPANY.

Leslie Hopkins, shipworker, has sued the traction company for $10,000, alleging that an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a street car at Russell and Shattuck avenue, as the result of the motor-man's carelessness. He sustained compound fracture of the hip.

YOUTH FAILS.

In order to get a bird's-eye view of the merrymaking last night at Idora Park, G. W. Hayden, 16, of 5021 Webster street, climbed a high structure. His perch was too unsteady and he fell, breaking one arm. Nurses at the Red Cross tent patched up the broken arm and Hayden was escorted home by Police Sergeant Havens.

things we don't want to do. If the treaty were wrong that might be so; but if the treaty is right, we will wish to preserve right. I think the people for the time being have the high honor to represent, better than some other men that I hear talk.

I have been bred and am proud to have been bred in the old revolutionary stock which set this government up, when America was set up as a friend of mankind, and I know if they do not—that America never lost that vision or that purpose.

This is not the slightest fear that arms will be necessary if the purpose is there. If I know that my adversary is armed and I am not, I do not press the controversy, and if any nation entertains selfish purposes set against the principles established in this treaty, and is told by the rest of the world that it must withdraw its claims, it will not press them.

ZIONISTS TO END SESSIONS SUNDAY

MRS. DEEGAN FILES ANSWER TO SUIT

Emanu-El school building, 1337 Sutter street, San Francisco, will be the scene, Sunday night at 8:15 o'clock, of a large mass meeting which will mark the end of the religious conference, which is being arranged by the Central Conference of Zionists of the Pacific coast delegates, who have been elected to go to the Chicago convention.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Dr. Max Radin, professor of law at the University of California, formerly of Columbia university and the College of the City of New York. His address will be entitled "The Present Situation in Palestine." The religious program, under the direction of C. C. Bevan, Mr. Radin, will include a large chorus of male and female participants, and among those who will participate in the chorus are the following: Mrs. Eugene Elkus, Miss Esther Golden, Mrs. L. Lazarus, Miss Beatrice Becker, Mrs. H. Elsauer, Mrs. N. Sachs, Mr. Alexander Bevan, Mr. Robinson, and Mrs. G. A. Kotera. Among the numbers which will be rendered are "Hallelujah chorus," "Laudanum," "By the Waters of Babylon," "Gower," and three groups of songs in Hebrew, English and Yiddish.

Mrs. Violet Deegan, wife of Major W. F. Deegan of New York, has filed an answer to his suit in which he seeks to recover possession of title to the home on Humboldt avenue in Fruitvale, where she has been living with Albert W. Crouch, with whom she eloped from New York to Oakland. He claims that the property has been his for fifteen years and that its transfer to his rights.

Mrs. Deegan is not named in the suit except as "Second Doe," but in spite of that fact she answers the suit defending her interest in the property, and then submits a complaint for divorce from her New York husband, in which she alleges cruelty, and asks for custody of the minor child and $30 a month.

Deegan has a suit pending against Crouch in which he demands $25,000 for "criminal conversation" with Mrs. Deegan, and it is said he has a divorce suit pending in New York. Crouch recently sued for divorce here.

Women Plan Health Center Fund Drive

Mrs. Maude Lane Anderson presided as chairman at a meeting of women health workers held at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the Liberty Theater at which plans for a campaign to raise funds for the Alameda County Health Center were presented. The benefits of the health center to the babies and school children of the community were emphasized.

The speakers were Dr. Richard A. Bolt, director of the Alameda County Health Center, Dr. Daniel Crabb, and Rev. Charles Price, former founder of the Alpha Club, a non-smoking organization created by the resignation of Phillip Bancroft last July. The position is one of considerable importance and responsibility.

Satterwhite is a practicing attorney with offices in this city in the First National Bank Building. He was graduated from the Hastings College of Law in 1894 and has been engaged in practice in the bay cities since that time.

Y. W. C. A. Boat Wins Prize for Decoration

The Young Women's Christian Association boat won the highest prize in the decorative parade held on Lake Merritt last night. The parade, one of the best held on the lake, was participated in by about 20 boats and boats for more than 20 hours sail had to make the round trip preceding the fireworks display. The Golden State band girls, led by Oakland's song leader, sang led by Oakland's song leader, sang several songs during the parade.

The following are the prize winners: Y. W. C. A. won the first prize of $25; Park Boulevard Athletic Club, $15; Highland Women's Bowling Club, $10; Sonoma and Daughters of Washington, $10; William Lowner, $7.50; Arthur Skelton, $15; L. F. Schooling, $10; Herman Katz, $7.50; C. W. King, $7; L. A. Hamilton, $3; T. Harold Spur, $20; M. E. Goldstein, $15; Everett Finger, $10.

Soderberg is Back From Summit Trip

Commissioner Fred Soderberg, head of the department of public works, returned today from a trip to Summit, where he met and accompanied the Motor Convoy train, leaving it at Sacramento. Soderberg and his family camped at Tahoe, awaiting the motor transport train and coming back in the morning in his own machine. Soderberg discussed details of the Oakland celebration with the officers of the organization.

Clothes Too Scanty; Mrs. Venus Files Suit

One of the most sensational suits filed in the Alameda county courts is the divorce suit of Venus Venus Vener, in which Mrs. Venus complains that because of her husband's failure to supply her with proper clothing she has been obliged all the time to wear a flimsy drapery, and that she had become notorious and the world over and has been humiliated by photographs and having her picture in such scanty clothes published in a million papers.

Distinguished Names on Fleet Banquet Roster

Few invitational lists to semi-public affairs in this city recently have contained more distinguished names than that for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet to Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, Admiral Hugh Rodman, Mayor John L. Davis and other prominent guests at the official luncheon which celebrated East Bay City Day at Hotel Oakland yesterday, bouquets of red, white and blue, set in a room of California flowers. The flowers were grown in the garden of the Flynn home, a pioneer Oakland residence, at 330 Lydia street.

Murder Is Charged In Colma Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Walter Haney, 24, was charged with murder, following the death of T. A. Redlinger, a stage driver whom Haney is alleged to have held up near Colma and after beating him on the head with a wrench, robbed him and took his car, which he later sold to George Baldwin, a butcher. The latter is being held on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Judge Hunt, on Bench Forty Years, Honored

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Superior Judge John Hunt was the guest of honor at a banquet of the Bar Association, held at the Palace Hotel, on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of his elevation to the bench. President Jerimiah F. Sullivan of the Bar Association, Gavin McNab and Peter F. Dunne paid tribute to his untarnished record.

One Vote Pledged for Navy Secretary

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Secretary one certain vote for Secretary Daniels, Admiral Hugh Rodman, Governor Stephens, Mayor John L. ## Wilson to Remain Here Two Days

President Wilson reverted to his original plan to spend two days on San Francisco bay. Eastbay day will be Thursday, September 18, two weeks from today. His visit within the Golden Gate will be broken up into three parts.

"League maker" will be in the East Bay for practically all of one day, plans were set on foot to make picturesque and striking his stay here. It is expected he will be worn by his long campaign and the East Bay will seek to give him a relaxation, freedom from the monotonous routine of hand-shaking and receptions by somber men in dress suits.

ceptions to the great, are the welcomes from school children, all the "kids" of a city. The youngsters are a cheering sight; their sunny faces divert dignitaries from their troubles. They offer no complex questions of diplomacy. Youth is fresh and frank, and statesmen enjoy the example.

Oakland has an opportunity, off-the President a real thrill in this connection. The shores of Lake Merritt afford a picturesque setting for a gathering of all the city's school children, and the sight, they declare, would be unforgettable, even to one who has gone through the festivities of greeting from a grateful France.

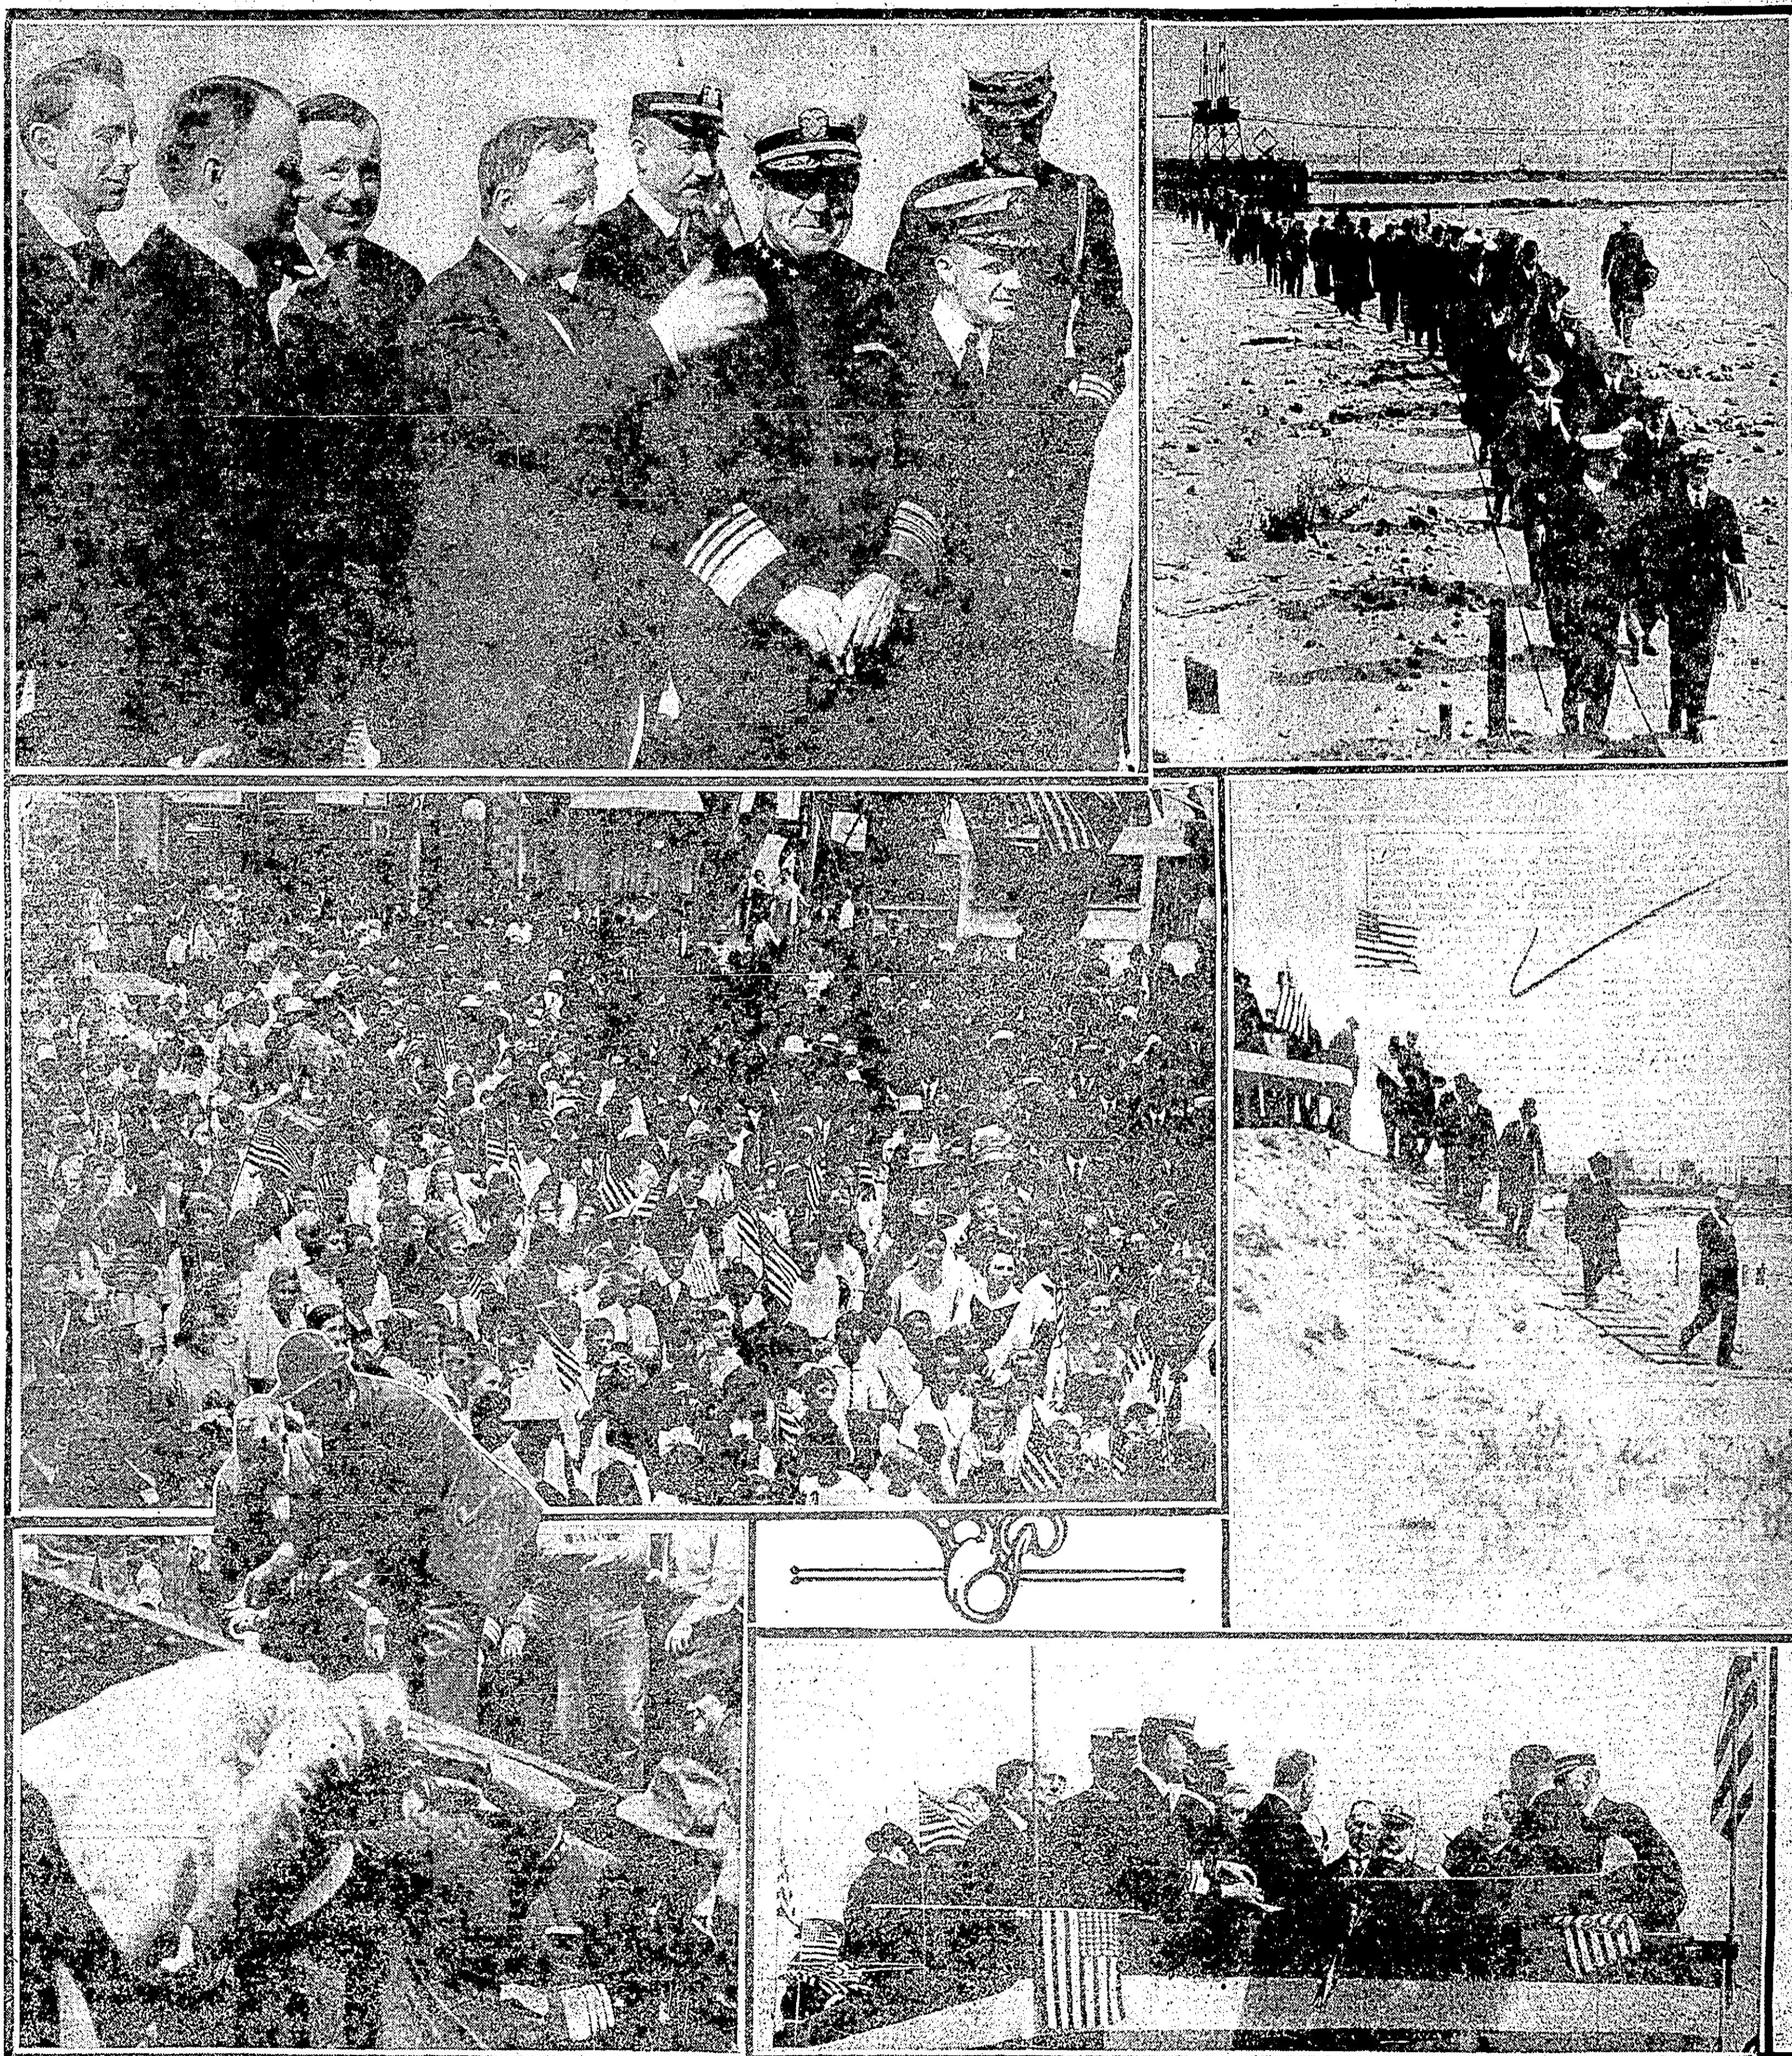

and they showed enthusiasm at the suggestion.

Reversion to the President's original program took place following a telegram sent last night by Gavin McNab, personal representative of the President on the Pacific coast, and chairman of the reception committee for San Francisco bay. The committee had been advised that the

Read below what a leading dealer said the other day regarding Firestone Tubes:

"Some of the best people who come in here, who haven't had experience with Firestones, can hardly believe that they are first quality because the price is too low. Better tell them about it in your advertising."

And we have heard about the same thing from a number of other dealers lately.

Firestone accepts the compliment.

The few who don't know Firestone quality will soon learn.

The fact that Firestone is selling tubes at the rate of 20,000 a day indicates how many car owners do know that they are first quality. Firestone has only one turned out of every ten thousand. We of no other such record.

No tube, foreign or domestic, equals the Firestone, either in the Red or the Gray type.

Just the looks of it, the feel of it, the action of it proves the Firestone superior when compared with any other.

And its better quality is proved again by its service in the tire.

There is no better rubber—and Firestone gives more of it.

Firestones have a toughness, a heat resistance, a come-back, that only Firestone methods can give to rubber.

Then why is the price so low?

The Firestone group of rubber specialists over in Singapore is the answer—backed by the Firestone buying power and organizing ability.

To get the best and be able to give most for the money, Firestone goes to the source of things.

Rubber represents the main element of cost in a tube. The item of labor is less in proportion than in a tire.

So you get the benefit of the finest rubber possible and more of it in a Firestone tube because Firestone has saved for you at the source of supply.

That explains why "the price is too low," as the dealer said.

Firestone capital is ready for any enterprise that means travel on rubber at a lower cost. Firestone men go any distance to make good their pledge of

Motor Convoy Arrives Tomorrow Oakland Planning Gala Reception

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The taking over of Fiume by the League of Nations for an indefinite term of years is proposed as the only logical solution of this problem, in a cablegram sent to Admiral Sims, former commander of the American naval forces in European waters, by Admiral Andrews, U. S. N., according to advices from Paris today. Admiral Andrews has been making a study of the Adriatic trouble, involving the territorial dispute between Jugoslavia and Italy.

Sea and land armadas will meet tomorrow at the port of Trieste, the capital of the old state of the dead son, Charles ONeill, who died at a training camp, was declared by Judge Lin S. Church to be legal. The will was contested by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Hardin and Miss Margaret Hannihill, on the ground of undue influence. The sister who received the benefit nursed the deceased in her last illness.

FUMIGATION IN SAN MATEO.
County Horticultural Commissioner H. E. Woodward of Redwood City reports the fumigation of horse beans or favas as progressing favorably. The fumigating work is of two types (1) that in houses re-arranged especially for this purpose and (2) that in sealed railroad cars.

The train will rest in Stockton to-night. New uniforms have been sent from the San Francisco Presidio to Stockton, so every man will appear slick when the convoy arrives in Oakland. Drivers and escorts will polish up the trucks for the final run.

A parade of Oakland streets will give all citizens tomorrow afternoon a glimpse at the caravan.

The Defenders club will keep open house tomorrow afternoon and in the evening will entertain the men at a dance.

The freedom of Lake Merritt, Idora Park and Piedmont Parks likewise will be afforded.

Evening features will include a clerks' association has notified Postmaster General Burleson, it was announced today, that unless the bonus is forthcoming they will resign en masse on that date.

Officials of the association declare that a petition has been sent to E. J. Flynn, national president of the association, and the State Division, including most of the clerks of Illinois and Iowa, demanding a nationwide referendum vote on the question. Associations at Sioux City,

Kansas City, and one in West Virginia are declared to have taken the same stand as the Chicago clerks.

It is charged that the clerks, who receive approximately $3 per day, have had an increase in pay since 1912, with the exception of a

GIRL AUTOIST'S VICTIM SUCCUMBS

Mrs. William N. White, 60 years old, 2311 Webster street, Berkeley, is dead as result of an accident late yesterday in which an automobile, driven by Miss Helen McCourtney, 18 years old, crashed into a crowd of people boarding a street car at Telegraph avenue and Bancroft way. According to the Berkeley police, the girl, who was learning to drive, was on the wrong side of the street and had become confused, placing her foot on the accelerator instead of the brake. Mrs. White was caught by the radius of the machine and dragged nearly 200 feet. She died last night at the Roosevelt Hospital.

Miss McCourtney, who lives at 491

Forty-second street, and is the daughter of Mrs. J. C. McCourtney, had obtained a license to drive a machine, according to the police report of the accident, and had borrowed an automobile from Eugene Levan, 531 Forty-third street. In the car with her at the time of the accident were James and Clementine Webb, 518 Forty-first street, Oakland. Paul Lehman of Berkeley and two sailors, Raymond McDonald and A. A. McIntyre, from the battleship Georgia.

Miss McCourtney was summoned to the Berkeley police department to-day. She is said to have admitted that yesterday was the first time she had driven a machine. The police, acting on the advice of the district attorney, will take no action until after the coroner's inquest tomorrow night.

Miss McCourtney's statement, according to the police, was that she had left the university grounds from the Sather Gate and was attempting to pass an approaching auto. In doing so, the girl said, she was compelled to drive on the wrong side of the street.

In the meantime a car stopped and a crowd was alighting from and boarding it. Miss McCourtney told the police that she lost her head and stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake.

The rest of the crowd about the car succeeded in jumping clear of the automobile.

We have hot water bags, of course, that sell for more money than the Lynwood Hot Water Bag.

There is probably no store sold in the Bowman's Auto Paint store giving more general satisfaction than these splendid bags.

As you know, rubber goods vary greatly in quality and it is not always easy to tell by the looks of an article of rubber how long it will wear.

The Lynwood Bags are used by hospitals and doctors and nurses quite generally and they all tell us that they like them better than any hot water bag they have ever used.

We have hot water bags, of course, that sell for more money than the Lynwood, also some that sell for considerably less, but to everyone who asks advice we unhesitatingly suggest the Lynwood Bag because we know its wearing qualities.

Two quart size—$1.50.

MASSAGE YOURSELF AT HOME

There is one thing that every woman in Oakland wants to have and that is a massage bag.

Something definite the effect of a massage can be obtained more than a warm bath, and nothing else can be compared to it.

The staple bags made of such materials as Morocca

Seal, Cowhide, Patent

Leather, and Fabricoid seem to be unusually popular.

We have been making them for many years.

They are very good for the removal of grease spots?

What do you keep in your medicine chest for the removal of any grease spots that appear upon clothing?

If you've a bottle of Kienzol, you have the best article for this purpose that you can get.

You have no idea how easy

it is to remove spots.

Kienzol is a non-inflammable chemical combination that dissolves grease, 25c and 50c.

Workers for Health Center Will Meet

The first meeting of the committee which is to raise the equipment for health center funds will be held tomorrow in a noonday luncheon given at Hotel Oakland. Mrs. Dudley Kinsell will have charge of the luncheon. Reservations for the luncheon can be had by applying to room 223, Oakland Bank of Savings building, Lakeside 3058, or to the public health center headquarters, 1104 Federal Realty building, Lakeside 5576.

MILLS COLLEGE OPENS TOMORROW

The new college year at Mills College will open tomorrow with twelve new lecturers and teachers on the faculty, in addition to last year's teaching force. A college bulletin will be published this week announcing these new names and the courses offered.

Miss Marguerite Billard comes to Mills from Smith college as assistant professor in French. She has also been a member of the French department of Middlebury college, Vermont.

Burges Johnson, associate professor of English at Vassar college, came during the summer as Coleman lecturer in English to Mills to organize the Mills bureau of publication and to lecture during September to the classes in journalistic writing.

Dr. Agnes Chapolet Moody, Ph. D., will lecture in social and political science. She is a graduate of Oberlin college, Ohio, receiving degrees for advanced study at Cornell and Chicago. She has taught both at Wellesley and at Cornell.

Mrs. Helen Swett Arteda, associate in sociology, is executive secretary of the public welfare league of Oakland.

Miss Frieda Fligelman, instructor in economics, graduated from the University of Wisconsin, was a graduate student at Columbia and was awarded a fellowship in economics at the University of California.

Raymond C. Brooks, D. D., will give a course of lectures on "Prophets and Poets of the Old Testament" in the department of biblical literature. He comes from the faculty of the Pacific school of religion and is pastor of the First Congregational church in Berkeley.

Rosalind A. Kepp, M. A., as an instructor in English, will offer a course in journalistic writing, assisted during the first three weeks by Professor Johnson. She becomes director of the bureau of publication, taking charge of the various publications of the college and directing its publicity work.

Miss Marian Elsie Possens, B. A., instructor in German, is a graduate of Mills college and a graduate student of the University of California.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mackall comes to the department of music as a teacher of voice. She has taught singing in Washington, D. C., and for the last two years in Honolulu.

Miss Marie G. Eustace, M. A., becomes secretary to the president. She is a graduate of Stanford university. She has taught in the Mo-department of the United States, with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

DINNER PRECEDES NAVAL BALL

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosborough entertained guests at dinner last evening preceding the naval ball in the auditorium. Places were set for Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. William Tully, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. William Cavalier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bates and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henes.

MRS. MARK REQUA

Mrs. Mark Lawrence Requa was the guest of honor at a two-informal affairs this afternoon, a luncheon given by Mrs. Harry East Miller at her home, and later at tea when Mrs. J. Harrison Clay presided as hostess. Intimate friends of the honor guests were invited to the farewell functions.

Mrs. S. E. Selling of Clay street, San Francisco, has sent out cards announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Edythe Selling, and Simon Katten Jr. The young couple will be at home to their friends Sunday evening at the wedding home. Miss Selling has a large number of friends east of the bay as she is a student at the University of California, and will graduate in May. The wedding will take place shortly after the completion of her studies at college.

U. C. SPEAKER AT WOMEN'S GUILD.

Dr. R. Tracy Crawford of the University of California was the principal speaker this afternoon at a meeting of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church. Dr. Crawford is in the service, having the rank of major in the Signal division of the air service. He was stationed at an eastern school. The guild includes in its membership a large number of the prominent matrons of the Eastbay cities.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hostetter (Jessie Chaplin Friedlander), who are spending their honeymoon in southern California, expect to come to Berkeley next month where they will establish their home. Mrs. Jessie Friedlander, the bride, was one of the popular members of the social set.

LEAVES FOR VISIT IN REDWOOD CITY.

Miss Aaron Schless has left for Redwood City, where she is to attend the formal opening of the club of the Redwood City Woman's club.

Mrs. Philip Plummer of Alameda will be the next hostess to entertain for Miss Leslie Brown, fiancee of Jasper William Tully. Mrs. Plummer will preside over a pretty affair the afternoon of September 12.

VACATION SPENT AT LAKE TAHOE.

Among those of the Bay region who enjoyed a vacation at Lake Tahoe were Professor C. L. Cory and Mrs. Cory and their daughter, Marion, of Berkeley. The trip was made by motor via Sacramento and Placerville. Brief stops were made at Tahoe Tavern, Donner, Chilmark, Emerald Bay and Fallen Leaf Lodge.

Before their return the party made a trip to Desolation Valley, Mount Tallac and Gilmore Lakes.

Aviators' Club Fixes Membership Limit

In order to put the air service on a substantial basis on the Pacific coast and to help the government in every way possible in promoting aviation, the Reserve Military Aviators' Club, formed a few days ago, held its third meeting at Stiles hall, Berkeley, last night.

Besides discussing problems arising in connection with the number of men to be eligible for the club, which it was decided to limit for the present to 100, the following officers were elected: E. J. McIntrye, chairman; Philip E. Glew, vice-chairman; C. C. Clark was elected publicity agent.

Steps were taken for developing the club in the future by co-operating with the federal government in procuring the club with blanks for training new prospective members. "Mother Toch" from Berkeley was elected honorary member of the club. The next meeting will be held at Stiles hall on September 10.

desto high school and was until this present appointment, secretary to the dean of the lower division at the University of California. Miss Helen A. Laute, Jr. A., the most recent of the bureau, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr, where she was assisted in the business office.

Announcement has also just been made of the new social directors of halls. Two members of the Mills alumnae, Miss Rosalind Cassidy and Miss Marion Possens, will be the social heads of College and Olney halls, respectively, while signed to locate a week's machine belonging to Mrs. E. L. Gibson, 2136 Sixty-second avenue, which was stolen last night. It was stolen from the Gibson clothes line.

TRIBUNER DAILY ALMANAC

SEPTEMBER FOUR.

Never were there such wonderful letters as came in in that "What I Want To Be" contest which we held a while ago. There were so many HUNDREDS of them that I could not possibly print them all—and here are a few which received prizes but for which there has been no room in the column until today. Goodness, but I'm proud of them! And I'm JUST AS PROUD of the scores of others that haven't been printed for they tell me what WONDERFUL IDEAS I HAVE.

NELLIE AUDET
I want to be strong and healthy and helpful to others. I want to be neat and keep my house clean. I want to be a true and good-hearted woman.

NELLIE AUDET,
2833 65th Ave., Oakland.
MORRIS ROSENTHAL

When I grow up I want to be a wireless operator. I have heard so much about it I'd like to be one now.

NORRIS ROSENTHAL,
1518 Milne St., Berkeley.

I'm sure Morris would make a DANDY, aren't you?

THELMA GLERY
I want to be a kind, generous woman with a heart full of love for everybody. I want to learn some good trade like a nurse or stenographer by which I can earn money not only for myself but to help others.

WINNIFRED COBBLEDICK
When I grow up I would like a nice home of my own and a kind husband and some loving little children that I could teach music like my mother is teaching me. I would like to be a good model housekeeper and a good cook. I would know how to make all the good things that I like to eat now.

WINNIFRED COBBLEDICK,
Los Gatos, Calif. Box 15.

BERNICE READY
I want to be kind to everybody, helping the poor, especially thru the Blue Bird Bureau, and give homes to cats and dogs a home and food. I will give any spare money I have to the poor and blind homes and orphan asylums. I also want to be a good citizen of the U. S. and buy my share of War Savings Stamps or anything my country asks me to buy. I will also contribute to building of highways and such.

HELEN HOHLAND
722 81st St., Oakland.

Doris wondered what Aunt Elsie was like. She was really a big fat man with pink whiskers and a snappy old lady with spats. When she saw Aunt Elsie's gaily picture in the paper she wrote this letter:

DORIS WHITMORE
Dear Aunt Elsie—
I'm glad you're not a man, but I'm sure you would be just as gingly and chunky if you were. I have lots of dolls, but I only play with three of them. I love the joky jingle corner, but I love you more. Your chickie, DORIS WHITMORE,
S. yrs., 1918 Forty-first Ave., Oakland.

And isn't this a LOVELY letter from Helen?

HELEN HOHLAND
The Rose of No Man's Land
When the Belgian and French soldiers needed help, America sent thousands of women to them. The soldiers called them the "Sisters of No Man's Land". So last summer if you met others you always have a lovely name.

HELEN HOHLAND, 11 yrs.,
1551 Fifth Ave., Oakland.

NAVAL BASE INSPECTION.

The inspection of the Alameda naval base site yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Daniels and his official party was under the most auspicious conditions. The weather was perfect and all arrangements had been admirably made. Too much credit cannot be accorded the officials of Alameda and the executive officers of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. No detail was omitted. The boundaries of the site had been plainly marked by buoys and yachts anchored at various points. After presenting the site from the bay side the party landed and were conducted to a stand from which a commanding view of the whole area was obtained.

It was a matter of frequent comment that the anchorage ground selected for the battleships of the Pacific fleet was directly off of the Alameda base.

The formal proffer of the 1450 acres which constitute the proposed base as a free gift from the city of Alameda was made by Mayor Frank Otis of that city. Managing Director Joseph E. Caine of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce very ably and impressively presented the salient points in favor of the site recommended by the Helm Commission, at the same time briefly but fully setting forth the facts relating to the gentleman's agreement solemnly entered into by the cities of the San Francisco Bay region. It was apparent that a splendid impression had been made.

Secretary Daniels in replying to the speakers very significantly declared that he had a very high opinion of the Helm Commission, speaking in the most laudatory terms of the men constituting the board. In his second Alameda speech he made mention of "the magnificent site offered," referring to the fact that close to the base the great fleet now rode at anchor. Following the inspection the party was shown the superior housing conditions obtaining in the Eastbay cities. Good taste was displayed by the members of the local committee in refraining from criticism of any other sites. The luncheon and dinner were well managed and no untoward incidents occurred to mar the success of these functions. Admiral Rodman's public assertion that a new naval base must be provided on San Francisco bay was indicative of early action. The people of the Eastbay region have every reason to be hopeful.

MARKS OF PROGRESS.

Progress may be marked by several things that have come to pass—or that are different—since the visitation of the other great armada to this harbor twelve years ago.

The automobile was a familiar vehicle at that time, but it had not been evolved to its present standard, and was not omnipresent as it now is. Nor had it so completely usurped the horse's job at the truck. It was very largely a passenger and pleasure vehicle. In consequence of the automobile not being the whole thing on wheels, as it is now, the streets had not been put in the condition that makes it possible to utilize them as dancing floors, as miles of them in Oakland were used last Wednesday.

The airplane's possibilities could hardly have been dreamed of in 1907. It was some time after the armada sailed in and out of the Golden Gate that year that this great revolutionizer made its public appearance, first as a show, people paying admission to an inclosure in order to obtain a more intimate view than was afforded after it got under way. And at the time there could have been no premonition of the variant, the seaplane, that alights on water and arises from it, which is now recognized as a very important naval adjunct.

Wireless telegraphy may have come in vogue, but the ships that made the spectacle at that time were not equipped with antennae through which they could be communicated with and could communicate thousands of miles at sea.

And it may be added that Oakland was not then considered of importance as a seaport. It contented itself with a classification as the hither side of the bay. It had not got very far with these improvements and developments that now astonish the naval and commercial visitor. Greater progress has been made on this head than may possibly be sensed.

There are many other evidences of progress that have resulted in important changes in the community, the State, the nation, and palpably to the world, which need not be gone into in this connection. It is a world of change, indeed, but no similar period in history has undergone such striking changes as that of the last twelve years.

BURLESON'S PULL.

Postmaster General Burleson still holds the fort. Since the return of the President there has been much speculation as to the fate of the member of the Chief Executive's official family who has been subjected to more criticism than all other cabinet officers together. The drive on Burleson assumed a rather serious political aspect when the American Federation of Labor demanded his removal. Reports from Washington indicate that President Wilson has been considering, at odd moments, the Burleson case and listening to certain Democratic leaders, reputed to be some of the biggest men in the party, who have been advising his removal as a matter of party expediency, contending that the head of the postoffice department was too great a load for the President to carry.

Critics of the secretary got Wilson's ear but not his approval. Undecided when he arrived home, it is now generally understood that the President has definitely determined to stand by Burleson. In this connection it may be pertinent to mention that Burleson hails from Texas. Incidentally Texas is the home of Colonel House, and the Colonel is reported to be a friend of the much abused postmaster-general. Enough said. Burleson will remain regardless of the formidability of the opposition. He has a friend at court who doesn't go far enough.

Rather drastic action was recently taken in Chicago when the health department of that city forcibly seized a prospective bridegroom on the eve of his marriage and lodged him in the contagious ward of the county hospital. It is alleged that the man was afflicted with tuberculosis.

"It is true the law has stopped a wedding," the health officer declared, "but I could not permit a man in such an advanced state of the disease to marry and possibly become the father of children who would be diseased." It is announced that the action will be followed by similar confinements of persons affected and who persist in marrying. In this particular case the bride-elect was clung around the man's neck and declared she was willing to take the chance.

Von Bülow is one of those who are telling how it was in Germany behind the scenes prior to August 1, 1914. "During the grave weeks before the war serious psychological diplomatic and political mistakes were made by Germany's political leaders," he admits, and says that Von Bethmann-Hollweg wished peace, "but lacked political art," referring to the fact that close to the base the great fleet now rode at anchor. Following the inspection the party was shown the superior housing conditions obtaining in the Eastbay cities.

The Watsontown Paperman tried to eliminate joy from the home-comforting thus: "The fellow who successfully dodged shells in the trenches for a whole year may come home and get run over by a lumber wagon."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

The alumni of Harvard recently foregathered to consider plans for a drive to secure $11,000,000 as further endowment for that institution. The fact was incidentally disclosed that every student who matriculates entails a loss of $450 to the college. He pays $200 and costs $650.

It is characteristic of this great institution that it proposes a greater endowment to meet the situation, instead of increasing the fees or curtailing the expense of maintenance and thus lowering the standard. There are 36,000 alumni, which seem to augur well for the endowment drive.

That President Wilson's agreement with the powers in the Shantung matter should have been disavowed by one vote in the Senate reminds a writer that in the French Chamber in 1870 the vastly important measure creating the Third Republic was carried by a single vote, and a blunder vote at that. It was cast by an obscure deputy, who was really a royalist, and his mistaken vote decided for a republic instead of the restoration of the monarchy. If this is so it is a historical fact not hitherto well known.

The detention of two Americans, already aboard a steamer for a voyage across the Atlantic, has resulted in a sort of round robin of federal officials, with one and the same alibi, "I didn't do it." Nobody knows who or why. The detained men were labor leaders, on their way ostensibly to examine systems of old-age pensions, such a provision being proposed in Pennsylvania. Customs officers haled the men ashore, but professed ignorance as to why. But as the advertisement puts it, "there's a reason"—there must be.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Beefsteaks can be kept indefinitely." Foolish information. Why should anybody keep them indefinitely, and how could any but plutoeans afford any considerable collection, supposing it became a fad? Beefsteaks may be on their way to the highly precious class, but they have not quite got there yet.

TENANTS' WAR ON PROFITEERS INCLUDES S. F.

Big Mass Meeting at Oakland Civic Auditorium on Friday Night, Plan; Mrs. Mathews Replies to Mrs. Barron

Plans by tenants who feel that they are victims of rent profiteers to spread their organization to take in all of San Francisco bay, became known today. Although no hope of stopping apartment house rents in the criminal courts is held out by attorneys in the city or county, the leaders in the Oakland movement declared that they believe some means can be found to prevent exorbitant increases.

Tenants in virtually all apartment houses in San Francisco are reported to have received a thirty-day notification of an increase. Copies of the blanks used for this purpose have been received on this side or there.

Mrs. John Mathews, who heads the campaign for a tenants' association in this city, is in receipt of several letters from San Francisco renters. One complaining letter, tinged with dry humor at the situation facing the tenants, ended: "May God give you strength in your noble work."

Mrs. Mathews declared that the sentiment in the recent declaration was right, and that the tenants, in general, will aid in seeking relief.

The upper ballroom of the Municipal Auditorium has been granted the meeting by Commissioner Fred Soderberg.

Mrs. Mathews today replied to the explanation given by Mrs. G. Barron, housekeeper of Caldwell Court, for boosting Mrs. Mathews' rent from $35 to $75 after she circulated a petition protesting at the previous $10 increase.

"Mrs. Barron admits that my desire to protect the tenants is responsible for this last increase," said Mrs. Mathews. "All her other declarations, about my two boys being troublesome and the like, are pure spite. There has never been any complaint about the boys; they are well-behaved. If it hadn't been that I wouldn't stand for the landlord's oppression, the boys would never have caused me to consider a threat, I am sure. When the raises were first announced, she told us that the only thing to do was to get up a protest—but now she has turned about and denounces us. As to my husband's salary, all I can say is that some persons seem to know more about it than we ourselves—and what that has to do with raising rates on all tenants I cannot see. Any matter of fact, I am not trying on my behalf for a selfish purpose. It just angers me to see the unfairness. We intend to build our own home very soon, and so are not as much concerned as others."

Steamship Makes Two Record Runs

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Two records were broken this morning when the U. S. S. Great Northern, former Pacific coast passenger carrier, arrived here from the Atlantic seaboard after a run of 11 days and 15 hours and a run of seven days and five hours from Balboa, Panama Zone, carrying a full passenger load of exclusively the families of officers of the Pacific fleet. It is understood that the Great Northern is to be turned over to the army and used as a transport on the Pacific run.

GIRL BATHERS' SUITS SHOCK POLICE CHIEF

But What Can He Do? Pretty Mermaids Tell Him to Go Chase Himself, and Then They Dive Right Into Bay

ALAMEDA, Sept. 4.—When is a standard bathing suit?

That's what Chief of Police Walter O. Jacoby wants to know, and he wants to know it quick.

If he doesn't there's likely to be a police chief's strike. Chief Jacoby says he can be pushed just so far.

The "saucy mermaid" is the cause of all the woe.

Alameda has an ordinance which requires that all bathers on its beaches must be adorned in "standing" bathing suits. The police chief has his ideas about standard swimming garb. For one thing, he declares, they should wear skirts extending at least half way to the knees. The same regulation, he avers, should apply to the men.

GIVE THEM MERRY HA, HA!

But mermaids in many cases seem to differ with the chief. He's weary, he says, of ordering them to put on skirt or barrel or burlap sack "immejut" to preserve the proper beach conventions, and then have them leave him talking into air while they dive friskingly into the sea or the big tanks.

Sometimes the haughty nymph even tells him to chase himself, according to the chief. Under the present ordinance, he might as well go to "Standard" bathing suit isn't explicit enough, he says.

The Alameda council already has taken up the matter. The "dads" were given descriptions of the scanty garb worn on some of the beaches that were calculated to cause a proper horror.

MORE CLOTH NEEDED

Economy in bathing suits has gone the limit, the councilmen were told. They were urged to amend some more cloth into the swimmers' costumes. The chief said the mermaids displayed too vivid a flare for imagination in bathing suits. He bemoaned the absence of the skirt in particular.

"Give me the bounds for bathing dress so I can have some authority," he beseeched. "At present I talk, but can't act."

Counsellor Green Majors sought information about the "skirts." He wanted to know why all the attention was being directed to feminine apparel. When told that men bathers also are supposed to wear them, he murmured: "That's all right, then, but I don't see yet why they call 'em skirts."

S. F. VS. OAKLAND DISPUTE JAILS 4

COMMUNISTS BAR PROPERTY OWNERS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Despite the protest of Rose Stokes, the Communist party put into its platform last night a provision that no one receiving money from rent, interest or "profit" can belong. Not only Mrs. Stokes, but William Gross Lloyd, who signed the appeal bonds which released a number of convicts I. W. W. members from Leavenworth penitentiary recently, is barred from fellowship. The Communists' party members also decided that doctors, lawyers and editors have no part in the "coming revolution."

The Communist labor party also adopted a program. It plans "propaganda for a new republic" based on that of Russia, with the shop and factory as the all-important unit. In the meantime the National Socialist convention from which the two radical wings departed, is continuing its sessions principally occupied with routine work.

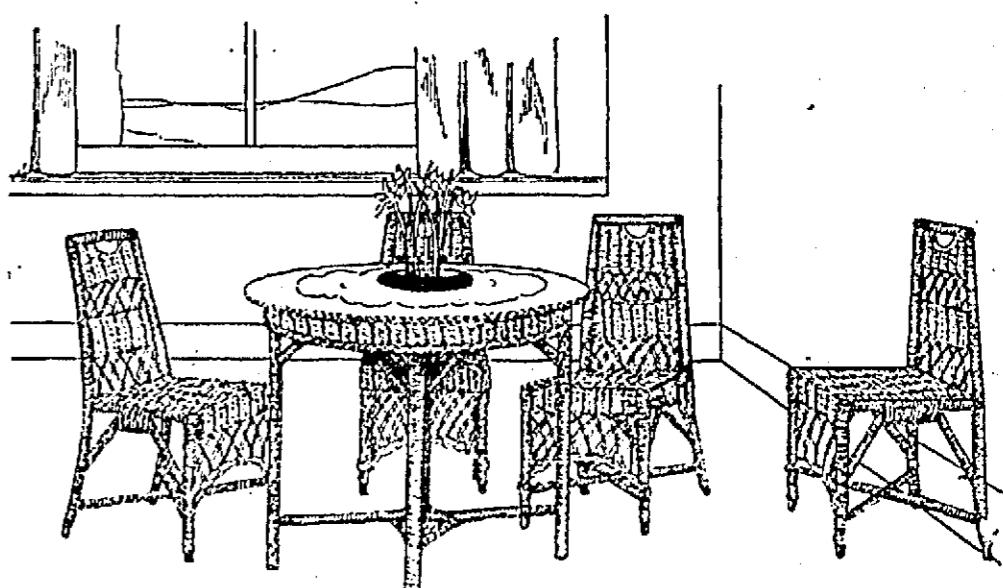

Each of the conventions is being watched by agents of the department of justice.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so. Thank you.

DANIELS WELL PLEASED WITH ALAMEDA VISIT

which he desired to swim in his own ocean. Yesterday he was handed a beautiful gold key to the city. Mayor Frank Otis made the presentation. He spoke glowingly of the work the navy did throughout the war.

Former Mayor E. K. Taylor of Alameda preceded Mayor Otis, and said the crowd that the secretary just had been tendered a $10,000,000 naval base site.

Secretary Daniels, in prophesying a bright future for Alameda and other cities of the East Bay, said that there will be a constant increase in business through the coming of more and more of the fleet to the Pacific ocean and to this port.

"We are on the threshold of progress," development that will elevate us to heights of better living conditions the world has ever known," he said.

"There will not only be flying in the air, but even the wife will have an airplane and look down on her husband."

"I have been greatly interested and instructed by the visit to your water-front and the temple of your manufacturing site. I appreciate it. Now, however, by my official obligation I am not permitted to say whether it will be accepted or not."

REVIEWS NAVY WORK.

The secretary reviewed the work of the navy and the shipyards in the war when speaking at the Bethlehem plant.

"The burden of the war is borne by the men of it," he said, "factories and fields work it out. Let us pass it here. Resolved, that we will have no more wars. Standing behind that sentiment are great labor leaders like Samuel Gompers wanting peace."

Tyrus, president and general manager of the plant, was on hand to help make the visit a success. The secretary was taken through a section of the machine shops and shown the material for the great destroyers in the making.

The ship on which the secretary drove the first rivet has not been named. Tom Costello, foreman of riveters, showed Daniels how to shoot the big rivet home.

"Now, who?"

No man contributed more to winning the war than the men who built the ships, was his tribute to the shipbuilder.

The secretary, with Admiral Rodman and other dignitaries, was in fine humor and his talks were spiced with wit and epigrams.

In his talk at Neptune he recalled his previous visit a few years ago.

On that occasion he was given the ocean as a gift, symbolized by a gold ring. Accompanying it was a red bathing suit "about as big as my hand," the secretary recalled, and he was advised that he might use it "to get me out of the water."

"Slin's a lucky guy. Yuh know who he hauled in the parade?"

"Now, who?"

Sierra Club Will Meet in Muir Woods

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Gathered around a camp fire in Muir Woods, members of the Sierra Club, headed by William E. Colby, the president, will enjoy their annual fall reunion over the coming week-end.

Members of the club will walk from Mill Valley to Muir Woods, Saturday afternoon, their sleeping bags and provisions to be transported by train. An entertainment will be staged Saturday evening around a campfire, while on Sunday a walk will be led by William T. Goldsborough.

The club has announced its annual exhibit of photographs for Friday, September 19, to Monday, September 29, at the club room in the Mills building, San Francisco.

A special feature will be made of pictures taken on this summer's outing of the club into the high Sierras. Visitors will be welcome, both at the outing and photographic display.

ARRIVE LATE.

Secretary Daniels and his party arrived late from Oakland, but the audience showed little uneasiness under its enforced wait.

It accorded Secretary Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman enthusiastic applause when they arose to speak or concluded.

Mme. Stella Jelica brilliantly sang three verses of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Their addresses were preceded by an address by Professor Charles Mills Gayley, dean of the faculties, in which he paid particular reference to the armada which Admiral Rodman had led into the western waters.

"It means for us protection, prosperity, ordered liberty and blessed peace," he said. "For California it opens a new future. Of old there were three ways of coming to California—across in a prairie schooner, over the Isthmus of Panama or about the Horn. We were then, to use a German word, which by now is permissible, a hinterland.

"With the coming of the transcontinental railway we were still bound to Boston, New York, New Orleans, or even Chicago. The United States had two seaboard ports.

Both ports are protected by one great navy, which it is possible to concentrate in seven short days. We are as one seaboard now."

"Our United States navy is a warrior of the league of nations. As the blood runs red and hot in human veins, it will continue to run red and hot in passion in the next few years, no matter how strong the league of nations. There will be need of adjustment and amendments—without amendments from the United States Senate (applause)—and there will be need of a policing power. Our navy and the English navy will guard the league of nations and insure peace in the world."

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Mayor Bartlett's address was, in part, as follows:

"Monday morning, as I stood on the deck of the Oregon, looking out the Golden Gate and saw the long line of battleships take shape in the morning mist and bear down upon us, slowly, silently, irresistibly, until abreast, and then burst forth into a salvo of greeting to our distinguished guest, I thought of the majesty and power of the mighty armada that has come home to us, of the service it has rendered to us, and to the world, in guarding the North Sea and in transporting our forces to and from the battlefields of Europe. But, more than all, I thought of the hearts of those behind those mighty bulwarks, of the men of the fleet, alert, ready, at their best every minute, fired with the enthusiasm of a holy cause, ready to sacrifice to the utmost to bring victory and peace to the world, and of the directing intelligence that planned out every move and used this force and its enthusiasm to achieve a great purpose."

"You, too, stand as a symbol to us and justify the pride that we have in John Paul Jones and Farragut. You show us that our own sons, our own brothers, are fit of that spirit that heroes are made of, that when the United States stands together as a unit, that the aspirations of our hearts are for righteousness, fair play and for peace, that we are ready to sacrifice that the other fellow may have a chance to live."

TRIBUTE TO RODMAN.

"And so, Admiral Rodman, you who commanded the American Dreadnaughts in the North Sea and were deemed worthy by America to receive the surrender of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, and you Secretary Daniels, who had the wisdom to see the needs of the navy in the mighty struggle, and who had the strength to organize and execute the work of our navy, you are all welcome to our city, Berkeley. You represent to us the ideals of American manhood and citizenship, and I pray you to believe that our welcome comes from the heart."

Secretary Daniels' address, reported yesterday, was received with every show of interest by his audience and was frequently interrupted by hearty applause. Admiral Rodman, following him, won an immediate place with his hearers by declaring:

"We Californians must stick together."

"When, a month ago, the Pacific fleet steamed into its home waters, Governor Stephens officially adopted us and made us all Californians. And, with a characteristic Rodman smile, "We Californians must stick together."

"The Pacific fleet is now in its real home port. Our stay here now might be short but we will return. The fleet is yours. It is open to inspection, and we will welcome you all aboard."

Berkeley's harbor possibilities were explained to Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Admiral Rodman by President L. A. Morris and Secretary Wells Drury of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, in an official communication prepared with the purpose of setting forth the suitability of this waterfront as a site for a free zone district. The official visit was followed by a luncheon arranged for a free zone luncheon after the meeting in the Grand theater.

President Morris and Secretary Drury emphasized the position of Berkeley in regard to standing by the decision of the Helms commission in awarding the naval base site to Alameda, and declared that the present interest of this community

BOY SCOUTS ARE PRAISED BY DANIELS

"The Minutemen of other wars and Paul Revere are 'way, 'way out of date," so Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels told three score Boy Scouts of Berkeley troops, who stood before him, smartly at attention, on the Greek theater stage at Berkeley yesterday afternoon. "In this war we had to have something faster to carry our messages than Paul Revere, who could only go as fast as their nags could trot. So we give you boys, and I don't think anything ever went faster on earth than you did; you went with the wings of light."

The occasion was the presentation to the Berkeley Boy Scouts of the medals which they had won for service during the war. They came up one side of the concrete stage, received their medals and marched, with the evident authority of veterans, down off the other end to the plaudits of the theater-full of people.

And the theater was full. From the stage out to the uppermost concrete tier, no seat was vacant. The aisles above the diazona were occupied, and the stage held some 500 or more persons itself. It was estimated that the crowd approximated 5000 persons.

ARRIVE LATE.

Secretary Daniels and his party arrived late from Oakland, but the audience showed little uneasiness under its enforced wait.

It accorded Secretary Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman enthusiastic applause when they arose to speak or concluded.

Mme. Stella Jelica brilliantly sang three verses of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Their addresses were preceded by an address by Professor Charles Mills Gayley, dean of the faculties, in which he paid particular reference to the armada which Admiral Rodman had led into the western waters.

"It means for us protection, prosperity, ordered liberty and blessed peace," he said. "For California it opens a new future. Of old there were three ways of coming to California—across in a prairie schooner, over the Isthmus of Panama or about the Horn. We were then, to use a German word, which by now is permissible, a hinterland.

"With the coming of the transcontinental railway we were still bound to Boston, New York, New Orleans, or even Chicago. The United States had two seaboard ports.

Both ports are protected by one great navy, which it is possible to concentrate in seven short days. We are as one seaboard now."

"Our United States navy is a warrior of the league of nations. As the blood runs red and hot in human veins, it will continue to run red and hot in passion in the next few years, no matter how strong the league of nations. There will be need of adjustment and amendments—without amendments from the United States Senate (applause)—and there will be need of a policing power. Our navy and the English navy will guard the league of nations and insure peace in the world."

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Mayor Bartlett's address was, in part, as follows:

"Monday morning, as I stood on the deck of the Oregon, looking out the Golden Gate and saw the long line of battleships take shape in the morning mist and bear down upon us, slowly, silently, irresistibly, until abreast, and then burst forth into a salvo of greeting to our distinguished guest, I thought of the majesty and power of the mighty armada that has come home to us, of the service it has rendered to us, and to the world, in guarding the North Sea and in transporting our forces to and from the battlefields of Europe. But, more than all, I thought of the hearts of those behind those mighty bulwarks, of the men of the fleet, alert, ready, at their best every minute, fired with the enthusiasm of a holy cause, ready to sacrifice to the utmost to bring victory and peace to the world, and of the directing intelligence that planned out every move and used this force and its enthusiasm to achieve a great purpose."

Daniels Sees Naval Academy Site
Richmond's Plans Told in Detail

Though Richmond received Secretaries Daniels and his party of admirals and others tardily from Berkeley last evening, the tardiness was not permitted to interfere with the exposition of the city's naval academy plans. This was followed by an automobile tour to Point Orlet, where Daniels found much interest by the secretary and he asked numerous questions regarding the academy site which was shown him.

No address was made by Secretary Daniels at Richmond, though he did offer a brief bit of advice to the members of the Richmond party on the advisability of getting its own waterfront. This party included Mayor J. N. Long, Harbor Commissioner F. E. Beck, Harbor Commissioner H. A. Johnston, John Nicholl, Sheriff R. R. Veale and some half dozen other residents of the city.

"Cities in the east," he said, "are prone to let go of their land, especially their waterfront land. You ought to hold on to yours. You are in the threshold out here, as it were. Your future is before you, and you are in a position to profit by the lessons of the eastern cities which have had to learn their lesson. This country is going to develop rapidly, and I know how hard it is for a small city to think it is ever going to become a big city, but you must get into that habit of thinking. And with that thought settled in your minds you will begin to appreciate the value to the city itself of your waterfront."

"I needed the gun to protect my money," was his defense. As he talked, he drew a money bag from his pocket and turned loose a veritable flood of gold on the judge's desk.

"Where did you get all that gold?" asked the judge. "That's more than I've seen in years."

"I've been saving it," answered Daniels.

Fifty dollars of the money Galpa left as ball money with Oliver Youngs Jr., clerk of the court, the first gold Youngs has received in many months.

Galpa will come up September 8 for trial.

ITALIAN HELD AS "GUN TOTER" DISPLAYS GOLD

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Frank Galpa, Italian laundry residing at 210 Clayton street, almost caused a near riot in Judge Robert Edgar's court. Galpa was up to answer a charge of carrying a concealed weapon after attempting to draw a gun on Officer Henry Villa.

"I needed the gun to protect my money," was his defense. As he talked, he drew a money bag from his pocket and turned loose a veritable flood of gold on the judge's desk.

The Richmond party met Secretary Daniels and his associates at the Greek theater in Berkeley and conducted them in machines to Point Nicholl.

Rear Admirals J. L. Jayne, J. S. McLean, William Shoemaker and C. W. Parks, Commander Hilton and others composed the naval delegation.

Mayor Long, Bartlett accompanied.

At Point Nicholl maps and diagrams, including drawings of tentative plans for a naval academy, were presented to the secretary and his associates and explained to them in detail.

The continuity of the site to any naval base that might be established on the bay and the ample extent of the area afforded, were discussed.

The site was chosen because of its proximity to the Blue and Gold coast, which cost five dollars this year, and that the junior assessment would be six dollars; and all of this is blamed on the increased cost of paper, printing and engraving.

All contracts for publishing the book have been made, and active work on the publication begins this week.

Beautiful Coats

The chief characteristic of these new coats are their smartness of line, although the lovely softness of their texture is a close rival.

The styles trend to long straight lines, some swinging free from the shoulders, others belted. Collars are deep and full, almost cape-like in some instances, muffling the throat well, or to be worn open as desired.

Materials are velours, kersey cloth, broadcloth, cheviot, silvertone, bolivia, fortuna, crystal cords, peach bloom, chameleon and suede.

Prices—$22.50 to $250.—Second Floor.

Fall Suits
Captivating in Their Style Newness

The silhouette of the season gives slender, graceful lines achieved by the longer coats, in straight-line effects or slightly belted.

For crowns the collars, adorns the cuffs, or in whimsical fancy completes a panel or touches the bottom of the jacket here and there. Molkskin, seal and squirrel dominate. Braiding and buttons further trim them.

Materials are silvertone, frost glow, cheviot, tricotine, peach-bloom, suedes, serge, velvet, broadcloth and velour in navy, reindeer, brown, titian, black, taupe and velour checks. Smartly tailored and lined. Prices—$35 to $125.—Second Floor.

Silk Frocks

IN DISTINCTIVE FALL MODELS

Advance modes that create instant approval. Developed of satin, charmeuse, Georgette, kitten's ear crepe, silk velvet and tricolette. Some of the skirts have drapes and tunics; others are straight line styles, and still others are combined with Georgette. Some are richly ornamented with beading and braid. Colors are navy, black, brown, taupe, beige, titian and Pekin. Prices—$25 to $135.

Fall Coats for "Sub-Debs"

Never were styles more beautiful nor more varied. The materials are Thibet, kersey, velour, broadcloth, duvet de laine, Bolivia and silvertone.

Utility and dress models cleverly designed to enhance the sprightliness and charm of youth—$22.50 to $75.00.—Second Floor.

CASEYS' CATER TO MEN OF FLEET

When "Casey" climbed the water wagon in Oakland yesterday he did so for the purpose of quenching the thirsts of as many of the sailor visitors as would come within the scope of his operations. "Casey" in this instance means the K. of C. Knights of Columbus, for the knights had the big wagon going about all day to minister to the inward needs of the visitors and no man was left athirst.

At the hall of the organization, 660 Thirteenth street, buffet luncheons were served throughout the day and the entertainment that was afforded sent many a man away with the idea of telling his companions of the good things that will be in store for the visitors all week. The hall will be open to all men of the fleet while the great armada tarries in this port.

Partners were furnished for all men for the dance and souvenirs in the shape of khaki handkerchiefs, bearing in each corner the device of the knights, were distributed.

Boy Scouts threaded their way among the dirigibles and notified each man in his hall that open house was awaiting him at the headquarters of the organization.

Although the entertainment was put on primarily by the Oakland Council of Sir Knights, all the East Bay councils of the order co-operated to make yesterday and the remainder of the week one that will be remembered by those who share the hospitality of the lodge.

JOHNSON SCORES ADS THAT DECEIVE

Goodbye, the old story of the phenomenal cure wrought by six bottles of quack medicine! Adios, the circus pressman's "stupendous, never equaled, globe-trotting production!" An ador, the insatiable-teasing advertisement of all descriptions!

The parting of the ways is at hand and the few mourners soon will find joy in the new regime, Professor Burgess Johnson of Mills College told the Oakland Rotary club at today's luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

"Facts, not facts," he said. "Harrow them home."

"As professional advertising men, I want to point out the folly of filling your 'copy' with statements and roseate descriptions that the readers will not believe. They were cured of the medicine, the man's recounted miracles long ago and they are getting just as much fed up on the story on the automobile page which contains other than facts."

"There is a division in newspapers between the news and editorial sections, but everyone, owner, editor, reporter, is trying all the time to squeeze some editorial into the news sections."

Earthquake is Felt in Eastbay Section

An earthquake the heaviest in several years, rocked the Eastbay at 11:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Beds rattling, windows and dishes and glasses all residents, particularly those in high buildings, a "hammocky" sensation, no damage was reported.

Prof. Charles Burkhalter of the University of California said that the shock moved from northwest to southeast.

OAKLAND YOUTH IS FLEET OFFICER

When the flotilla of Pacific Fleet destroyers drop anchor tomorrow or the up to the Municipal wharf Commander Milton S. Davis, former resident of this city, and at present captain of the Ward, may feel like Captain John Gulliver.

Davis hasn't been here for sometime, and he is about to receive the same thrill that came to the Genoese admiral back in 1492 when the discovery of a new continent turned geography, astronomy, geology and the rest—including history—upside down.

Anyhow, Davis is due to discover—or disprove—something to town.

When he left it was a blooming village, a corner in the populous United States. Tomorrow, as commander of the destroyer half dozen he will take possession of Oakland in the name of the United States Navy and set for himself just how well the years have treated his old home town. The destroyers are due to arrive at 10 o'clock of a day to be forgotten modeling.

The officers and men will be given shore leave while the destroyers are here. Enough of the complement will be left to car for them and show visitors around.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Fleet and Presidential committee and the War Camp Community service are planning to stage a celebration upon the arrival of the destroyers. It is probable that Davis will be received with singing and showered with good things to eat. Then the freedom of the city will be given them.

Arrangements for bringing the destroyers to this side of the bay were completed this morning by the Chamber of Commerce.

IN 1000-FOOT FADE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 4.— W. C. Buell, pilot of a locally built airplane, and Whiting Hendricks, a passenger, were badly injured yesterday when the plane in which they were flying went into tail spin at a height of 1000 feet and came to the ground just over the Oregon line south of Walla Walla.

Buell succeeded in righting the machine before it reached the ground, but not soon enough to make a safe landing. Both men were in their seats when found. Hendricks had a fractured skull, a broken leg and a bad scalp wound, while Buell suffered injuries to a leg. Both are in St. Mary's hospital here.

COLLIDING WITH ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE, CONTAINING A WOMAN AND CHILD,

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 4.— Charles E. Buell, pilot of a locally built airplane, and Whiting Hendricks, a passenger, were badly injured yesterday when the plane in which they were flying went into tail spin at a height of 1000 feet and came to the ground just over the Oregon line south of Walla Walla.

Buell succeeded in righting the machine before it reached the ground, but not soon enough to make a safe landing. Both men were in their seats when found. Hendricks had a fractured skull, a broken leg and a bad scalp wound, while Buell suffered injuries to a leg. Both are in St. Mary's hospital here.

DAMAGED IN LANDING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.— The Lawson airplane which left Buffalo early this morning arrived at Baldika field here at 10:25. On board were ten passengers, one a woman. In landing on the soft, rough field the plane was damaged about its nose. No one was injured. The accident probably will delay the plane here for two days for repairs.

"Another Man" Starts Rumpus in Home

The eternal triangle was blamed for many things early this morning at the home of James G. Parker, negro, of 1031 Third street, according to Parker's explanation to the police.

He was arrested this morning at 11:30, and the Aladdin snow fields are due upon the pad ground.

U. C. SENIORS' SHIMMIE DANCE INVESTIGATED

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Senior students who danced in a shimmy contest held recently on the campus of the University of California may "shiver" and "quiver" in real earnest in the near future.

For the wrath of the college authorities and the students' welfare committee is on their rheads.

"Students at the university stand for 'decent' dancing," is the comment of Miss Lucy Stebbins, dean of women on the campus. "This certainly shall be investigated."

For the story goes and the seniors who participated are frank to admit it. It was the real shimmy with all its quivings and shiverings that was danced.

"What of it?" they ask, however. "All this was before the students' welfare committee was organized for the term and they can't do anything with us!"

The dance which has aroused the cast Thursday evening in Harmon Gymnasium were members of the senior class met for their final social evening of the term.

Things were not as lively as they should have been. Someone suggested a shimmy contest. Eagerly the students responded. The sum of $2.50 was collected for a prize for the best shimmy artists. Someone else gave a quarter for a consolation prize.

The dance was on! One by one the couples were eliminated until a half dozen shivering, quivering dancers were left on the floor. But it was Eldon Spofford, a senior in the college of law, and his wife west the prize. That was last week. Despite their bravado the seniors made every effort to keep the contest a secret. Yesterday the investigators got out of the bag.

What will be the outcome depends upon the findings of the students' welfare committee, of which R. E. Connolly is chairman.

PUPILS STRIKE TO SEE 'GOBS' ARRIVE

ALBANY, Sept. 4.—Pupils at the Cornell School in Albany are ardent patriots. They demonstrated that fact yesterday.

Through an oversight on the part of the school officials no herald was given to the students and the children of the city opportunity to welcome the jockeys on Eastbay Fleet Day.

When Principal D. C. Carwin assembled classes yesterday morning he found a young Bolshevik uprising on his hands.

"Do we have school today?" demanded the pupils.

"We do," was the response.

"We're strike," was the answer.

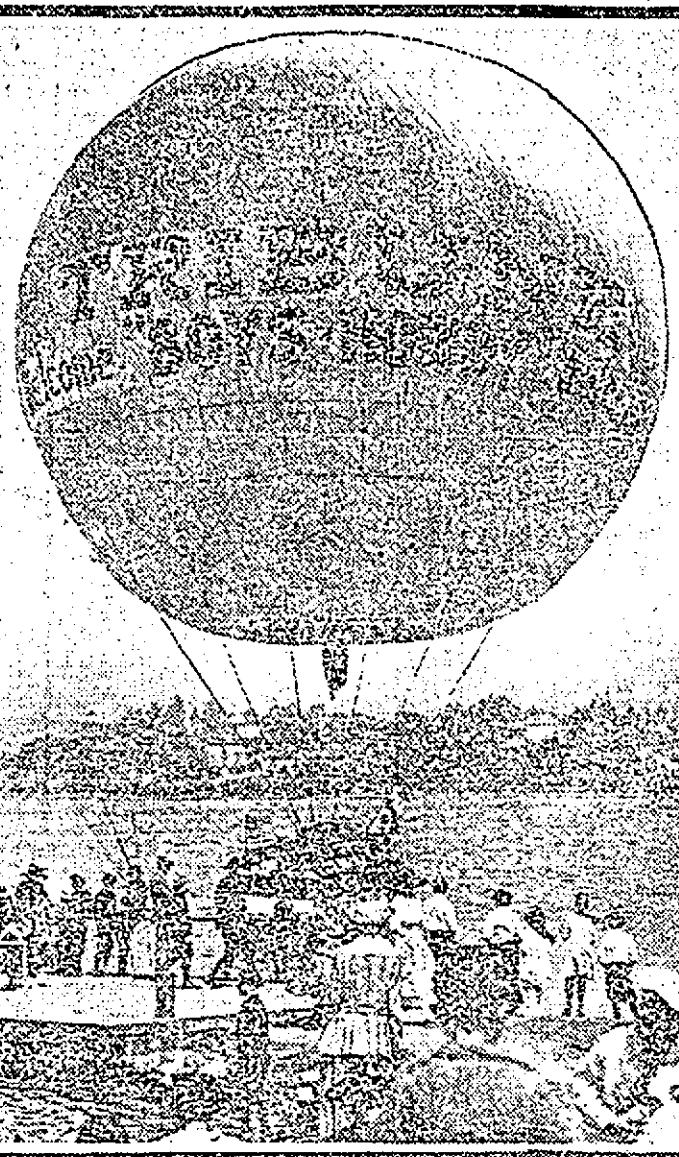

Half the students in the school flung down books and marched from the building.

An hour later the young rebels scored a complete victory. A hasty consultation with school officials was held and belated holiday was declared.

R. W. Hanna Made Director of Bank

RICHMOND, Sept. 4.—R. W. Hanna, superintendent of the Standard Oil refinery, was this morning elected president of the Chamber of Commerce, succeeded C. M. Dierck. Hanna's father is treasurer of the Standard Oil Company of California.

This picture shows one of the ways in which a welcome was extended to the men of the Pacific armada. The legend on the balloon was speaking for itself as the big gas bag started to rise on the shore of Lake Merritt.

Naval Base Rumor Encouraging Alameda Site Is Favored, Belief

The probability that the Alameda naval base site would receive the endorsement of Secretary of the Navy Daniels and the naval experts of rank who accompanied him here, was materially strengthened by the presentation of the site yesterday was the belief of members of the local committee today. This they derived from statements made by the originally to members of the visiting group, the questions that were asked by the visitors and the discussions that ensued.

"The cities on the continental side of the bay," said President H. C. Capwell of the Chamber of Commerce today, "are to be congratulated on the thorough way in which the matter was laid before Secretary Daniels. I am certain that an impression had been made there that the experts had been brought out of the shipyard, a technical report on the result of excavations at that big plant was obtained and proved of much interest to the experts.

Another point which impressed the secretary's party was the closeness of the site to the deep water anchorage of the bay, together with the gradually complete absence of siltation. They pored over the charts of 1857 and those of later dates, as showing that the deep water channels have remained practically the same in all the years.

This effectively set at rest all reported and believed that the Alameda site was far from deep water and liable to be a source of constant costly dredging.

A Message to Mothers

YOU know the real human doctors right around in your neighborhood: the doctors made of flesh and blood just like you: the doctors with souls and hearts: those men who are responding to your call in the dead of night as readily as in the broad daylight; they are ready to tell you the good that Fletcher's Castoria has done, "going and will do, from their experience and their love for children.

Fletcher's Castoria is nothing new. We are not asking you to try an experimenter. We just want to impress upon you the importance of buying Fletcher's.

Your physician will tell you this, as he knows there are a number of imitations on the market, and he is particularly interested in the welfare of your baby.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Fletcher's

DR. THOMPSON, BAIL JUMPER, IS LOCATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Attracted by a fainting spell while trying to open a window on the fifth floor of the Paisley Hotel, 432 Geary street, early this morning, Mrs. Martha Brewer, wealthy society woman of Monterey and sister of Evelyn McCormick, prominent California artist, fell into a vacant room alongside the hotel and was discovered by some one who saw her body from a window overlooking the lot and telephoned the police department.

What was first believed to be a murder mystery or suicide, as Mrs. Brewer was clad only in a night gown and kimono when her body was found, was cleared up after the body was identified at the morgue and her room in the hotel located with the assistance of Miss McCormick.

"My sister has been the victim of fainting spells and came up from Monterey Tuesday for treatment and it was due to an oversight that she was left alone last night," Miss McCormick said. Other sisters include Mrs. E. Parish Warren apartment, Mrs. Margaret Jones, Cheviot apartments, both of San Francisco, and Miss Nellie T. Potter of New York, whose engagement to an army colonel was recently announced.

Inspector Fenton G. Thompson and two deputy sheriffs are now in Mexico, it is understood. The news of Dr. Thompson's capture will be telegraphed to central station. Captain L. Agnew, secretary to Captain G. Inspectors Walter J. Petersen emphatically denied Dr. Thompson had been captured and the police were keeping his capture a secret.

GREASED PIG IS VICTIM OF U. C. ANNUAL BRAWL

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—A coat of thick grease applied to the hide of a 150-pound pig was not sufficient to protect him from an onslaught by freshmen and sophomore students at the University of California.

For today, after ten days of scientific treatment the greased boar was declared dead by second year men at the annual "brawl" of the two lower classes held recently on the campus is no more.

His end came last night. Over-exercise and internal injuries are given as the cause by the college experts who performed the autopsy. J. M. McClellan, student at the university and owner of the pork, was the real mourner today at the last rites over the dead martyr. For pork is bringing 20 cents per pound on the hoof and there was a goodly supply chased by college students.

Senate Vote O. K.'s Pershing as General

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—John J. Pershing is a permanent general of the United States army. The senate this afternoon, in open executive session, confirmed President Wilson's nomination of General Pershing, rising unanimous vote. The nomination was submitted under authority conferred in a bill passed by congress.

FEARS KNIFE OF SURGEON, INHALES GAS

Breeding over ill health and the necessity for a dangerous operation; James Morrow, retired rancher, committed suicide last night by taking gas. He was found in his room at 928 Eighth street by his wife this morning.

He was almost extinct when the wife discovered her husband. A gas jet was in his mouth. He committed suicide some time last night, in the belief of the coroner's office.

According to Mrs. Morrow's report to Police Inspectors McSweeney and Rossick, her husband had been morose for several days. An operation was almost necessary to save his life and he dreaded the ordeal.

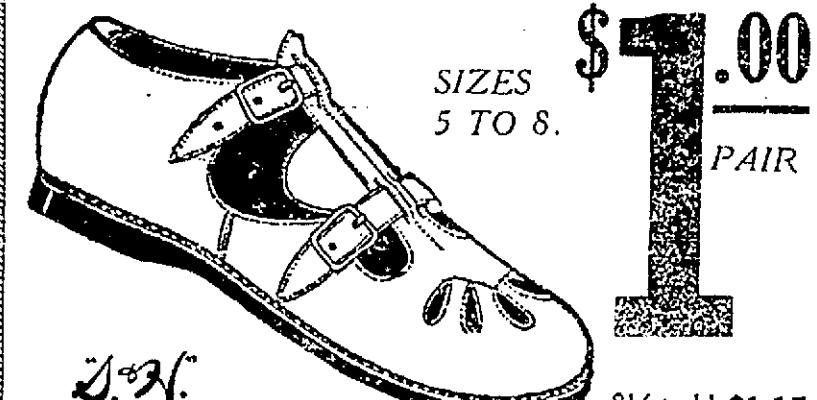

Besides his wife surviving him are three sons, Dave J. Morrow, 23; Will McKee Morrow, 25, who returned from France two months ago, and 14-year-old Ritchie Morrow.

Morrow was a property owner in Oakland. He is a native of Belfast, Ireland, and was married in Sonoma county in 1882.
